A snowbird's thanks to Bradenton dentist, staff for care

Published: February 7, 2013

Any visit to a dentist is not a pleasant adventure, but as a snowbird unfamiliar with any dentist in Bradenton it can be daunting.

An ad in the Bradenton Herald advertising "gentle dentistry for the entire family" prompted my call to Dr. Nish Patel's office on 50th Street West and Manatee Avenue West. I explained to his receptionist, Debbie, my toothache problem and was told to come in as quickly as I could.

I was seen promptly by Dr. Patel. He felt necessary to consult with my family dentist in Illinois. They both concurred and the verdict was a tooth extraction.

I was extremely nervous! But Dr. Patel and his assistant, Becky, explained the entire procedure to me and that I would be made comfortable throughout the extraction.

How wonderful it was to have found Dr. Patel and his kind, caring staff. The City of Bradenton is so lucky to have this professional, gentle dentist.

Thank you, Dr. Patel, and your wonderful staff.
